THE EVENING STAR. SIDE PARTNERS WASHINGTON:

$ATVRDAYApril 5, 1590. CHORBY S. NOYES Editor. THE EVENING STAR has the fullest Local Circulation of any Newspaper in the World, end as an Advertising Medium is worth more than all the other papers published in Washington.

New York Office: Room 93, Tribune Building In the Senate debate Thursday Mr. Sherman said: "I think there is a disposition in Congress now to throw upon the people of this District, who are heavily taxed at best, a great many objects of expenditure which belong to the government of the United States, for instance, such as the great tunnel that was put through here, and which has been for the time abandoned. It is a cruel thing to compel the people of this District to pay for that," Mr. Edmunds agreed with Mr. Sherman that no part of the cost of the Zoological Park should be placed upon District, but dissented from the suggestion that there was any cruelty in compelling the District tax payers to pay one-half the cost of the abandoned tunnel. He said: "If the legislature of a state, through some mistake or misapprehension, passes a law which imposes a tax or a burden upon some part of the people of the state and not upon them all, a local matter, and it turns out to be unfortunate, I have never heard of a case in which it was thought by anybody that those local people had any claim in morals or in any way upon the state to be reimbursed for the mistake, because mistakes will happen in every government." If the building of this tunnel had been authorized by Congress acting in its capacity as municipal legislature of the District then Senator Edmunds might be right. But the nation built, paid for, owned and controlled the original water works system of the capital, and the residents paid only for that part of the water, not needed by the government, which they were permitted to use. And when it was proposed to extend the system it was also proposed to continue this exclusive national ownership. Consequently by the original legislation the United States undertook the work of constructing this extension at national expense. The prolect was not treated as local in any sense, and there was no occasion for the District to criticise either the method or expense of the extension, as it would have had the right to do if the original proposition had been that it should share the cost. Two years afterward as an No. 6.-6ft 0 18ft 9. amendment to an appropriation bill it was provided, in effect, that the water-takers, not the general tax payers of the District, should had not asked the extension at their expense, No. 21.-12 ft 9 x 16 ft 0 40 they had no control over the work, and evidently the basis of this exaction was the belief No. 38.—10 ft 6 x 14 ft 9..... takers get no water from the tunnel, and in No. 23. - 8ft 3 x 12ft 3..... use of its unquestioned power to extort a mil-

The Baltimore American is of the opinion and proposes a plan that will intensify the interest of the world in the Fair as could be done in no other way. It is commendable from every point of view. It will bind the East and West in measureless enthusiasm for the great Fair and give it a boom throughout the whole world." Chicago should welcome a proposition which promises to soothe the disappointment of the defeated eastern contestants for the world's fair, and at the same time advertise and elevate its own celebration by supplying official and impressive introductory proceedings. It now begins to appear that Bismarck is destined for a higher sphere than any he has hitherto occupied inasmuch as he will become an editor. He has already said he will frequently give expression to his opinions in pubhe print and Von Caprivi has announced his intention of discontinuing the practice of furnishing official inspiration to any one newspaper, and placing them all on an equal footing in regard to the publication of official information. With matters in this shape Editor B' narck will readily take the lead and he will be worth at least 2,500 marks a week to any journal which can secure his services.

It is a noticeable fact that the more recent railway accidents have been due to the spreading of rails at a curve or the falling on the track of some natural obstacle, such as earth or boulders. It is also noteworthy that the moloch car-stove has been appeared without actual loss of life. For these ameliorations let us be duly thankful, notwithstanding the fact that the St. Charles rail-spreading was probably due to the careless mode of repairs which the company were making, and the consequently unsafe condition in which the track was left.

All parties in succession have approved going to the Supreme Court with political questions, but the better sense of the republic's founders, as expressed in the Constitution, that the court's functions shall be confined to cases in law and equity, has finally prevailed.

Having gone through the sheriff's office and found it wanting in character and efficiency New York purposes to investigate her police department. The intention is commendable. and the more vigorously and thoroughly it is carried out the better.

As four hundred casualties have been reported already, it is probable that the total loss of life in the Mississippi Valley tornado was about 500. Three-fifths of this loss was in Russia is evidently pushing Servia on in the matter of relations with Bulgaria, Russia is thus playing her old game of treating the victim most tenderly before submitting it to the process of dismemberment and deglutition.

The best evidence that the world progresses in liberality is the praise and encouragement which widely separated religious bodies now extend to one another. It means, not gush, but real appreciation of the ends of all religion. The temperance societies of Germany were not half represented on Bismarck's birthday, when the old man received among his gifts

Great minds and the noses of the great run in the same channel. Chauncey M. Depewand the Czar of Russia suffered simultaneously with influenzs and both are now recovering.

If Governor Hill would only notice that the Australian ballot system has not been able to secure republican victories recently he would take back that veto of the Saxton bill.

A long line of liberal and home rule success has at last been broken by Ayr and Windsor. Will the West Virginia election of 1888 end at the sounding of the last trump?
